Cowdery's
BLANK LEGAL FORMS

A Message from Cowdery's President

Dear Office Products Dealer:

Unbelievable...but it has been nearly eighty years since Cowdery's blank legal forms were introduced. Calvin Coolidge, flappers and Babe Ruth. You never know, they could have been among the initial users of Cowdery's legal forms. Today, we have forms supporting laws and regulations those first customers way back when could have scarcely imagined. Through the years, the folks at Cowdery's have worked hard to nurture and grow our line of legal forms. But with this catalog, I am proud to announce the most sweeping revision in the history of Cowdery's. Let me share with you just a portion of what this new catalog represents:

- We reviewed the entire line, to make certain (1) they are compliant with the most current statutes, (2) they use contemporary language, and (3) they are user-friendly. When I speak of user-friendly, I mean that in two respects. First, we made sure that they were published in the most convenient format; several of our forms are now offered as snap-out forms. Second, we have made them as easy to complete as possible. The subscript under each blank line clearly explains what information is expected; some forms even include instructions for completion (short of offering legal advice).
- We have even changed a few form titles to reflect their purpose more effectively.
- You will notice that this catalog includes the most recent revision dates for each form. If a revision date has a cross (†) next to it, you are advised to pull any previous versions of this form from your inventory and destroy them.
- We purged a number of old forms that are no longer selling.
- We are excited to introduce a new line of forms in compliance with current lease and construction law. These forms are featured on pages 8 and 12. See the inside back cover for a complete description.
- We are currently constructing a website for the convenience of both you and your customer. It will start out small, but ultimately it will offer previews of every form in the Cowdery's line. In addition, we will use the website to keep you abreast of any new legislation that may affect the use of Cowdery's forms and notify you of the newest additions and revisions to the line.

The office products business has been a career-long experience for me. I enjoy the forms business because it keeps me connected to the industry. Thank you for your continued support!

Yours,

Walter Riley, President
